Car of Dr. Viesle t Plunges Over Hill When Steering Gear Fails

INJURIES ARE SLIGHT

Persons in Machine Escape Almost Miraculously---Car Entirely Wrecked

When the automobile of Dr. V. P. Viesle t went over the embankment 300 yards east of the garbage plant at about 11 o'clock Friday night, Dr. Viesle t the driver and Miss Anna Estenfelder, who was a passenger in the machine, had a narrow escape from serious injury or death. Through quick action, Dr. Viesle t was able to save both Miss Estenfelder and himself from tumbling the score of more feet that the machine rolled, and bruises and few cuts constitute the worst of their injuries. The machine is a mass of wreckage as the result of a nine-foot drop and its plunge into a tree at the foot of the slope.

Dr. Viesle t and Miss Estenfelder were bowling along at a moderate rate of speed coming toward Charleroi, when he felt the steering gear give. According to his story, Dr. Viesle t at once realized the danger and applied the brakes. It was too late. Into the fence at the side of the road the machine plunged. Through the fence it cavorted-breaking boards and pulling up three large posts.

The momentary halt of the car when it struck the fence previous to its slide of several feet was just enough to enable Dr. Viesle t and Miss Estenfelder to escape by jumping. In their hurried leap both received their injuries. The machine bumped ahead over the nine foot embankment and, given a start, then rolled over and over 20 feet or more to the tree below which it pactically pulled out by the roots.

People who live nearby summoned autoists from Charleroi and Miss Estenfelder and Dr. Viesle t were both brought home. Miss Estenfelder was the most injured. She was considerably bruised amout the body and her back was wrenched. She sustained a slight cut on the head. Dr. Viesle t's injuries are mostly bruises He has a slight injury to one arm that will cause soreness for some days to come. The wreckage of the machine was removed to the Elite garage. It cannot be repaired.

Coal Trade Bettering

Lake Demand Grows and Pittsburg District Feels the Revival

Acerding to operators of the Pittsburg district more coal has been moved to the Great Lakes the past week than during any other period this year. The resumption has been made possible by a better iron ore movement which brought vessels for coal cargoes to the lower lakes. The shipment has increased mining operations and a larger force of miners has been put to work, with the prospect, the operators say, of a complete resumption of lake coal shipments by July 1.

The first indication of improved trade was noticed when the demand for slack began to show itself and the price advanced. The increased demand is due as much to the fact that coal is scarce in Ohio and West Virginia as to any improvement in business as the Pittsburg district appears to be the only one in this field that is free from labor troubles.

IDENTIFY VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Man Killed on Railroad is John Anderson, of Uniontown

HAD BEEN ON VISIT

Identification of the man found dying on the railroad tracks near Speers station, after being struck by a train was made late Friday afternoon by his wife as John A. Anderson, of Uniontown. Anderson and his wife, Mrs. Nora Anderson had been visiting for nearly two weeks at Allenport with the mother of the dead man, Mrs. Eliza Anderson.

According to the story told Anderson had been to Belle Vernon and it was while on his way back to Allenport that he got in the way of a passenger train and was struck and fatally injured. He died shortly after being removed to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital, Thursday night.

Besides his widow, Anderson leaves his mother, four brothers and two sisters. It was only when he failed to return home Friday that his wife and a sister, learning that a man had been killed on the railroad, came here to ascertain if Anderson was the man.

The body was taken to Uniontown this morning for funeral services and for burial on Sunday.

THOMAS CASE IS CLOSED

Taking of Testimony Ends Abruptly on Friday Afternoon

INTEREST RUNS HIGH

The trial of Walter Thomas, the young Rices Landing farm hand for the murder of Mrs. Josephine Price at her home near Rices Landing, last September, which has been on trial in Waynesburg since Tuesday of last week, came to an unexpected close Friday afternoon. The attorneys for the defense rested their case a few minutes before three o'clock and the commonwealth began its re-buttal which was closed at 3:09 o'clock. The defense offered no sur-rebuttal. Court was immediately adjourned until 8:30 o'clock at which time the argument of attorney was begun. The greater part of the day was taken up with the argument of counsel. The jury received the case this afternoon.

Friday the defense introduced evidence through Attorney Wychoff of Waynesburg, to show that an unknown man was seen on the road near the Price home the night preceeding the homicide. The commonwealth, in rebuttal, produced Stanley Stockdale, a student at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, who testified that he was the man seen in the road and said that he was going to visit his grandmother, who lives about a mile from the Price residence.

J. A. Wallen, a brain specialist from the University of Pittsburg, was on the witness stand the greater part of Friday. He told of the general effects that injuries such as those suffered by Bertha Fox had and said that she could be made to believe things which had never happened.

THE STATE ISSUE

By their glowing endorsement of the Wilson administration in the state platform the Democrats have placed themselves on record as favoring policies which are destructive and ruinous to Pennsylvania, says an exchange. They have made the state contest this year a straight out fight on whether or not the voters of the state approve what has been done to them by the enactment of Democratic theory into law.

If the voters approve policies which have made 80,000 idle freight cars on the Pennsylvania lines, if they indorse the workings of a law which has put thousands of coke ovens out of blast and other thousands on part time, if they uphold a condition which has reduced working hours for thousands of men and has resulted in other thousands being laid off, then they should support the Democratic state ticket.

But if they resent the prevailing business depression, if they long for a return of prosperity fostered and restored by Republican legislation and control, then they will cast their ballots for the only party which has ever demonstrated any capacity for administering the affairs of the country in the best interests of its people and its business.

By the platform the national administration is the issue. Its acts are on trial. The tariff bill, the Panama canal surrender, the Mexican blundering, the botched up income tax law, the new banking system still ineffective because of the delays of President Wilson in appointing the members of the Federal Reserve Board, the shocking display of peanut politics in selecting the reserve cities, the pending anti-business bills with their added uncertainty and depression of business—all these are things brought about by the Wilson regime and which are so fulsomely approved by the state Democrtic platform.

The prevailing conditions now so closely parallel those prevailing under Grover Cleveland and his low tariff that the election this fall can hardly fail to complete the analogy. Then the Democrats were so overwhelmingly defeated because of their incapacity and their blundering that they did not return to power for 16 years during which the country prospered. As soon as they got back the inevitable business depression manifested itself. It is more than a coincidence. It is cause and effect.

FLAG DAY JUNE 14.

By the Stars and Stripes on June 14—this day has been set aside as Flag Day in the United States address an exchange.

The thirteen colonies which opposed the aggressions of the English government by armed resistance and prior to the outbreak of the Revolution, no common organization and had seldom been engaged in any concerted action. When the continental armies, therefore, met the invading British troops in the field they had no common flag under which to fight. The first armed forces raised by the colonists marched under almost as many flags as there were colonies. Prominent among these were the famous Rattlesnake Flag, Pine Tree Flag, and Liberty Cap Flag. The lack of a common emblem to which all might give their allegiance was seriously felt in early days of the Revolution and was given earnest consideration by the congress of the colonies which, after the Declaration of Independence had become the United States. Finally, on June 14, 1777, congress enacted "That the Flag of the thirteen United States should be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." At first the admission of new states to the Union was accommodated by the addition of stripes to the flag, but this was soon found to be impracticable, and in 1818 an Act of Congress provided that the thirteen horizontal stripes should remain unchanged and that upon the admission of a new state a star should be added to the union of the flag. With this modification the Stars and Stripes as adopted in 1777 have stood from that day to this as a symbol of the country, representing the abstract idea of the nation and crystalizing in concrete form the patriotism and devotion of its citizens.

Let towns and cities fly their flags and show respect for the symbol with the above record.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In a city where Canadian money is abhorred to such an extent that it is almost an impossibility to pass it at its face value, as in Charleroi a former Charleroi man had an experience that while embarrassing, was none the less interesting.

The occurrence was when he proffered a Canadian dime to a street car conductor. The conductor refused it abruptly and demanded somewhat rudely to be paid with Uncle Sam's coin. His words were of such nature as to slightly rile the Charleroi man, who decided he would lay for the conductor.

Some time later he boarded a car and recognized the conductor. He gave him a quarter and the conductor started back two dimes. Instantly he divined by a single glance that one of the dimes was Canadian. Thereupon began an argument. Persisting the conductor had handed him a Canadian dime, the Charleroi man made a few stinging remarks in reference to the previous transaction.

"But I did not give you any Canadian money," said the conductor. "Let us prove it," he continued. "You have the change I gave you in your closed hand. Now let's see."

Convinced that he knew, the Charleroi man showed the two coins. Both were United States dimes, and good. He got off and boarded the next car.

A man stepped into a cigar store, intending to purchase a cigar and incidentally to change a Canadian quarter that he was anxious to be rid of.

He received his cigar and planked down the money carelessly. The clerk, a tired looking individual, without seeming to look at the quarter, tossed it into his cash register, and reached for change

He presented his customer with two dimes.

Upon reaching the door, the customer glanced at his change. He had two Canadian dimes.

Advertising

COMMONSENSE people all now recognize the value of letting the public know who you are, and what you have to offer in the world in the way of commodity or service.

WHEN we speak of advertising we speak of the most powerful force that acts today in the world of business.

THE American people form by all odds the best educated and most open-minded public in the world. All they want is the truth, and when get that, they act clearly, logically and some times with surprising speed.

THE public wants to know the facts. It wants the facts about a kind of shoe or a brand of flour. It wants to know the kind of stuff that goes into a suit of clothes or a package of crackers.

The One Thing Above All Others
The Public Demands is Publicity

IT has learned to be very skeptical about any event that occurs in the dark.

DO not keep your light under a bushel and create the opinion that you are no longer in business. Let the people know what you have to offer to them.

Canals of the World.

China has led the world in the matter of canal making, and to this day stands first among the nations for the skillful utilization of her inland waterways. One great canal maintains communication between Peking and Canton, a distance of 1,200 miles, and the total extent of the canals of China is more than 5,000 miles. Russia owns the longest canal in the world, extending from St. Petersburg to the Chinese frontier, a distance of 4,472 miles and also the second longest, covering 1,434 miles between Astrachan and St. Petersburg. As regards numbers of separate canals, Holland claims precedence, but her total mileage of inland waterways is only 930 miles.

What His Fee Was For.

He was always boasting about his ancestors and one day employed a genealogist to hunt them up. In due time the connoisseur of pedigrees returned and was cordially received by his patron.

"So you have succeeded in tracing back my ancestors. What is your fee?"

"Two hundred dollars."

"Isn't that high?" objected the patron. "What's that for?"

"Principally," responded the genealogist, "for keeping quiet about them."

Shortening the Law's Delay.

A remarkable change has come over the king's bench courts, remarks the London Globe. Twelve months ago the condition of the courts was so congested that the judges were trying actions which had stood for hearing six months and more. Recently five actions were before the judges which were set down for trial the month before The ex-lord chancellor once expressed the hope that judges might be in the agreeable position of saying to litigants, "Come into the courts today and we will hear you tomorrow." When litigants have to wait less than three weeks for their cases to be reached the fulfillment of this hope would appear to be not far off. Not in every part of the work of the king's bench division, however, are things so expeditious.

Women Carried Dogs Long Ago.

Plutarch wrote about women who carried dogs about in their arms, and one of the Roman emperors said something about women who fussed over lapdogs when they should be lavishing their attention upon babies. The emperor wasn't, and probably didn't pretend to be, making an original observation.

The fact about dogs—and it is not new—is that some persons like them greatly, some like them less and some do not like them. It is very much the same about boiled turnips or clam chowder. But depth of feeling and easily engendered animosity, suddenness in quarrel, are sometimes more noticeable in discussions of the question of whether dogs should be liked than that of whether the flavor of turnips is agreeable or otherwise, though the discussion is as fruitless of other results as an argument about taste.

Comparison With Cave Man.

Everything considered, it is possible that the cave-man had an advantage over us. For though his words were few in number he had few ideas to voice, few thoughts to express, few activities to advance, and these were all of such a nature that his grunt was encyclopaedic in its ability to explain. On the other hand, life is now so complex that with all our words, inflections, accents, mimicry, postures and gestures we are often unable to make our meaning perfectly clear.

Historic London Building.

The Inns of Court hotel, London which is to become the telephone exchange for Holborn, began life as the Blue Boar tavern in Plantagenet times taking its name from the crest of the De Veres, who owned the land thereabouts. When its neighbor and rival the George inn, was demolished under Queen Anne, the Blue Boar annexed the name George as its subtitle. It was at the Blue Board that Cromwell disguished as a trooper, stopped a man about to set out for Dover. In his saddle he found a letter from Charles I. which determined him on the king's execution.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Finkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

ONE OF THE COMING BIG EVENTS IN THIS SECTION OF THE STATE

TYPICAL SCENE AT A REDPATH-BROCKWAY CHAUTAUQUA

THE forthcoming Chautauqua which is to be held here will be one of the big events of the season in this section of the state. The above photograph illustrates a typical crowd at one of the Redpath-Brockway Chautauquas There are today nearly 2,200 Chautauquas in the United States and Canada. In fact, the Chautauqua has become one of America's great institutions, and the idea has already spread to England and Japan In 1872 there was not a Chautauqua in the world In 1873 Bishop John H. Vincent and Lewis Miller inaugurated at the spot now called Chautauqua, N. Y., the original institution. Today Chautauqua, N. Y., is the summer center for 10,000 people, and its land, buildings and equipment represent a cost of millions.

But, although thousands of people go annually to Chautauqua, N. Y., from all parts of the United States, the great mass of American people would never get to a Chautauqua if they had to travel far from home. The recognition of this fact brought about the decision to take Chautauquas to the people everywhere. The movement a few years ago began to spread rapidly Today there are operated from the Redpath headquarters in Iowa, Kansas City, Chicago, Pittsburgh and New York nearly 1,000 Chautauquas Only the best talent is engaged, as high as $15,000 having been paid by the Redpath for a single attraction for the Chautauqua season. Every year the number of Chautauquas grows, and there are more requests annually from towns wishing to be Chautauqua centers than can possibly be granted.

ORGAN RECITAL PROVES EVENT OF MUCH INTEREST

Prof Jean C. Moos, Director of the Bethany, W. Va., appeared Friday Bethany, W. Va., appeared Friday evening in the initial organ recital at the First Christian church, where a new organ was recently installed Assisted by Miss Laura Thompson of Bethany a soprano soloist and by Miss Georgene Parsons, Mrs. W. F. Hennings and Warren Kinder local vocalists, a program of much merit was rendered.

Mr. Moos appeared seven times and in addition to this played the accompaniments for all the vocal selections. His opening number was Toccata and Fugue in D minor, Bach. "Traumerei," Strauss and Entracte Gavotte from "Mignon," Thomas, were well rendered, but one of the most interesting and best selections of his entire program was Suite Gothique. Boellman. This suite enabled Mr Moos to display the qualities of the organ to the best advantage. Other renditions that were much enjoyed were "Toccata," Yon, the overture to "Oberon," Weber, a theme and variations for pedal study, Thayer and a festal march.

Miss Thompson who possesses a sweet soprano voice sang pleasingly three programmed numbers and one encore number. Two programmed selections were "Oh, Divine Redeemer," Gounod, and "Lift Thy Heart," Francis Allitsen. The third was a selected number.

Miss Parsons, who was in excellent voice, received vigorous applause after her praiseworthy rendition of her contralto solo. "Little Boy, Good Night." Warren Kinder, tenor, was at his best in the song. "Am Meer," Schubert. Miss Ethel Barth soprano and Mrs. W. F. Hennings, rendered the duet. "Oh, That We Two Were Maying," in fine style and for their efforts received much applause.

BRUMBAUGH QUALIFIED FOR OFFICE

Such is the Opinion of Philadelphia Newspaper Which Tells Why

HAS EXCELLENT RECORD

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, the Republican nominee for governor, received most flattering recognition of his preeminent services as superintendent of public schools by the Board of Education Tuesday, when resolutions were unanimously adopted expressing the reluctance of the board to accept his contemplated resignation and granting leave of absence without any pay, during the months of September and October, when he will be engaged in his campaign, according to the Philadelphia Public Ledger. W. T. Tilden, president of the Union League, in introducing the resolution, spoke of the splendid service of the superintendent and added, with the evident approval of all his colleagues, that he regarded Dr. Brumbaugh as "one of the greatest public educators in the world."

"It was a graceful tribute from those in the best position to judge Dr. Brumbaugh's ability, his qualifications as executive and administrator, and his loyalty and resistless energy, in any service he assumes" says the Ledger." Moreover, it is a gratifying indorsement of the good judgment and good luck of the Republicans of the state in securing as candidate for governor a man of his caliber.

"Dr. Brumbaugh should receive the vote of every Republican in Pennsylvania; moreover, he is entitled to the unqualified support of every Independent, whether enrolled as Progressive, Democrat, Washington or Keystone. The Public Ledger is gratified that there is this candidate to whom it can give unreserved support, and rejoices that the people of Pennsylvania have the opportunity of selecting as chief executive a man of such signal ability.

"Dr. Brumbaugh is a native Pennsylvanian, through ancestors who have been honorably identified with this state since early Colonial days, and springs from the pure German stock whose achievements are inextricably woven in the history of the commonwealth and whose record has ever been distinguished for rugged honesty, strong intellectuality, resolute conviction and ardent patriotism.

Prepare for Higher Duties.

"His whole career has prepared him for the higher duties he now seeks. As a boy he was school superintendent of his native county, Huntingdon, where he won his spurs; even then though but 22, his reputation went beyond the state, and Louisiana employed him for three years in summer to organize her system of teachers' institutes.

"He then took a post-graduate course at the University of Pennsylvania and Harvard, received the degree of doctor of philosophy and was invited to head the Department of Pedagogy at the University of Pennsylvania. He did this so well that President McKinley sent him to Porto Rico to organize the educational system of the island. Here his executive and administrative ability again bore fruitage, and he did his work so admirably that President Roosevelt urged him repeatedly to remain, but his duties called him home.

"In 1906 he became the superintendent of the Philadelphia public schools. The extraordinary result achieved is the living testimony of his unusual talents annd rare qualifications as executive and administrator. He has had here supervision over 5,000 trained employes, 320 school buildings, 382,000 school children and an annual expenditure of Board of Education lays at his feet the warmest testimonial which official utterance can express and an imperial city ardently indorses this generous recognition.

"Dr. Brumbaugh's indorsement by President Tilden is deserved. He is 'one of the chief educators in the world,' and the most distinguished educational leaders on this hemisphere are witnesses. He has been chosen by his fellow-superintendents to the presidency of the Department of Cities of over 20,000 inhabitants in the National Educational Association and at every session of that important body his leadership is everywhere recognized. His conspicuous services as a member of the commission which reorganized the Philadelphia public schools, consolidating into one splendid whole the 42 separate organization as created by our school code, Dr. Brumbaugh performed important services, and to his ability and energy as organizer and administrator this supremely important achievement is largely due.

"Dr. Brumbaugh will contest the election with Vance McCormick, the Democratic nominee and Dean Lewis is also a pedagogue, but his scholastic training has given him no such experience as Dr. Brumbaugh: he is a man of high ideals, but lacks the poise, judgment, sound common sense and administrative and executive experience which are so conspicuously found in Dr. Brumbaugh. Vance McCormick is likewise a man of fine character and high ideals, but the revelations of his extravagant expenditures in his primary campaign have produced a distinct shock and he certainly fails to measure up to the intellectual and executive attainments of Dr. Brumbaugh. Moreover, he is running as a Democrat, the avowed defender and supporter of the false economic, industrial and tariff doctrines of the present administration, and his election would be justly construed as a vindication of the present destructive business policy and a confession that Pennsylvania indorsed the blundering attacks on business and industry which have been such lamentable features of the present Congress

"Dr. Brumbaugh typifies all the characteristics and attributes which should distinguish the Chief Executive of this great Commonwealth. He has scholarly attainments, platform power, he is acquainted by actual contact with every grade of our complicated citizenship; he has courage, poise, breadth of judgment, administrative experience and executive ability of the highest order: his natural bent has always been toward social, industrial and economic progress, he is not tainted with factional politics; he has the courage of his convictions: he has moral strength and the broadest intellectual culture. As governor he will be his own man in every sense of the word and the brilliancy of his record as chief executive will reflect honor and credit upon every citizen of the state."

DOUBLY PROVEN

Charleroi Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Charleroi citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. Robert Coulter, 320 Third St., Charleroi, Pa., says: "One of the family had the measles when he was five years old, which left him with weak kidneys. The trouble was most distressing at night and there seemed to be an inability to control the kidney secretions. I had often heeded and I was induced to get a supply at Piper's Pharmacy. The one who used this remedy was soon benefited and we have hopes of a permanent cure."

Her Hopes Realized.

On January 30 1914, Mrs Coulter said: "I willingly confirm the statement I gave praising Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago. Doan's Kidney Pills made a complete cure for one of our family."

INDUSTRIAL MAN TO AID COMMUNITIES

Carrying out preliminary plans for the intelligent helping of towns in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio industrially, W. R. Williams, industrial commissioner of the West Penn Traction company was here on Friday meeting business men and citizens. Mr. Williams position is a peculiar one, and a new wrinkle in the adoption recently of far-reaching ideas of the company.

Mr. Williams' duties pertain more to the helping of towns to get industrial concerns than it does, virtually, to the direct representation of his company. He is a man that is constantly on the lookout for new industries which are considering matters of location. If he can persuade one to locate in a town of Western Pennsylvania or Eastern Ohio, he has accomplished one of the objects for which he is employed. Selecting a town from the whole district it a duty that he considers from a neutral point of view, with the adaptability of the locality to the needs of the industrial concern being considered carefully.

Naturally enough Mr. Williams is employed with a reason, the reason being that of aid to the West Penn Traction company. He will keep carefully on file all details pertaining to the advantages of the towns and cities in the district, so that at a moment's notice he can select the best for an industrial concern. Then naturally, it would be expected that the West Penn company could sell electric power to the industry.
